

Los Angeles Business from bizjournals - December 4, 2006
<http://losangeles.bizjournals.com/losangeles/stories/2006/12/04/daily8.html>

BUSINESS PULSE SURVEY: Should Los Angeles ban trans fats?

VQ OrthoCare to distribute CoolSystems product

Los Angeles Business from bizjournals - December 4, 2006

CoolSystems Inc. said Monday that Irvine's VQ OrthoCare will begin distributing CoolSystems' Game Ready accelerated recovery system to medical professionals.

CoolSystems, which is based in Berkeley, has marketed the device to sports teams around the country, and has been looking at the medical market. VQ OrthoCare will distribute the system to medical professionals, including podiatrists, pain management specialists and orthopedic, spine and plastic surgeons.

The system consists of a control unit and wraps fitting different parts of the body, which apply pressure and temperature to control pain and swelling.

CoolSystems also makes Game Ready Equine, which is a redesign of the system for horses.

Contact the Editor Need Assistance? More Latest News →

Subscribe or renew online

All contents of this site © American City Business Journals Inc. All rights reserved.